Suggestion: Use one section of this page for each morsel of data you plan to include in your essay, being sure to categorize it according to the section it belongs to and to note its source for easy citing later. As you decide on the order of the details in your finished paper, you can number them here and then transfer the information there. (Hints: If you have your sources labeled on the “Source Cards” sheet, you can just refer to them by letter here; you must cite whatever was not your own idea or truly common knowledge.)
